THE IMPORTANCE OF PEST MANAGEMENT
IN THE FOOD INDUSTRY

2nd December, Chestnut Suite, Island Civic Centre

NIPAG
Northern Ireland Pest Advisory Group

Join us for the third annual Northern Ireland Pest Advisory Group event to be held on 2nd December in the Chestnut Suite, Island Civic Centre.

The event provides an opportunity for delegates within the food and pest management industries to hear presentations from leading experts on the importance of pest management in public health with particular reference to the food industry.

The morning session will include a presentation on the recent Food Standards Agency and American Institute of Bakers endorsed Chartered Institute of Environmental Health document, "Pest Control Procedures in the Food Industry", attracting senior food industry representatives from both retail and manufacturing.

To continue on with the food theme the afternoon session will present a number of case studies from Northern Ireland which will explore the relationship and communication between Environmental Health Officers and Pest Control Officers servicing the food industry

We hope you will be able to join us for this informative event.
